Dr. Michael Moloney Berates Catholic College Student

"Catholic higher education has largely failed to develop the intellectual potential of the young minds entrusted to it," Dr. Michael Moloney, '20, professor of English at Marquette University, charged in his talk on "The Catholic College and the Intellectual Life."

Dr. Moloney opened the 1959-60 lecture series at St. Joseph's with an attack on the anti-intellectualism which, he feels, dominates Catholic campuses.

Asserting his belief that the primary function of a Catholic college should be the cultivation of the intellect, in order that the aspiring mind can cast off "the ravages of original sin", Dr. Moloney attacked the theory that the moral influence is the primary reason for the existence of the Catholic college.

Moloney said, "The moral influence of the Catholic college that, "Most Catholic writing is trivial and affected. It is not an interpretation of life, but a flight from reality.

"Catholicism will make no one an artist. You must have a Catholic culture before you can have Catholic art. This Catholic culture won't be created while the Catholic press remains in its present state."

"McCarthyism" Attacked
Catholic political actions were berated by Moloney in his attack on the Catholic support of "McCarthyism." Dr. Moloney said, "McCarthyism" was a direct violation of the eighth Commandment. In his practice of the false philosophy which he used, Catholic support of 'McCarthyism' held the Church up for public ridicule."

According to Moloney, "This was a practical application by the clergy and other Catholics who supported McCarthy of the same false philosophy which he used. Catholic support of 'McCarthyism' held the Church up for public ridicule."

Commenting on Senator Kennedy's bid for the President, Dr. Moloney said that, "The political gesture of Senator Kennedy is merely academic, because of the great dislike for Catholics in this country."

Dr. Moloney was introduced by Mr. James T. Farrell, assistant professor of English at St. Joseph's and director of the lecture series.

Alumnus Lectures At St. Joseph's

Dr. Michael Moloney, professor of English at Marquette University, gave the first lecture in the annual St. Joseph's College lecture series November 11. Dr. Moloney, a 1920 alumnus of St. Joseph's, spoke on "The Catholic College and the Intellectual Life."

Dr. Moloney, a native of Jasper County, Ind., in which St. Joseph's is located, is the author of two books, "John Donne: His Flight from Mediaevalism," published by the University of Illinois Press in 1944, and "Francois Mauriac: A Critical Study," published by Alan Swallow in 1958. In addition he has contributed chapters to "Fifty Years of the American Novel" (1951) and "American Classics Reconsidered" (1958). Dr. Moloney's chapters dealt with Ernest Hemingway and Henry David Thoreau, respectively.

He has also written some 40 articles for learned journals and such Catholic periodicals as Thought, Catholic World, and America, and has published dozens of book reviews.

Dr. Moloney has taught college English for 30 years and has been at Marquette since 1944. A one-time farmer, steelworker and journalist, he attended St. Joseph's in 1918-20 and received his M.A. from Georgetown University in 1931; and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1939.

Research Grants Awarded Students

Eight St. Joseph's students have been chosen as recipients of undergraduate research grants by the faculty committee on undergraduate research. George Borge, Joseph Fitzgerald, Patrick Freehill, Vernon Gladu, Joseph Kana-mueller, Robert Smat, John Stropko and Charles Yarris will receive the awards.

Approved by a committee consisting of Fr. Donald Ballman, Dr. Jay Barton and Fr. Edward Maziarz, the eight students will do research for the remainder of the year in the various topics which they submitted to the board for approval. Stipends of amounts from $280 to $400 were awarded to them based on the time necessary for the completion of the projects. Equipment and supplies will also be paid through the grant.

Approximately 15 applicants originally submitted their names and necessary materials in order to be considered for the grants, and the eight recipients were chosen from this group.

All undergraduate students were eligible to apply provided that they were of high academic achievement and properly grounded in the theoretical background of their subjects. Research projects were to be of high scientific significance and were to be under the supervision of a competent scientist.

Death Summons Fr. Fehrenbacher

Rev. Frederick L. Fehrenbacher, C.P.P.S., M.A., professor of history at St. Joseph's College, died at 12:10 a.m. Monday morning, December 21 at Jasper County Hospital. He was 63 years old.

Father Fehrenbacher attended St. Joseph's from 1917 to 1922 and was ordained in 1928. He had been teaching at St. Joseph's since his ordination, leaving only for graduate study.

Father Fehrenbacher will be especially remembered by many St. Joseph's athletes as he was always greatly interested in sports. He was an outstanding baseball player when he attended St. Joseph's and he seldom missed a St. Joseph's athletic contest.

The funeral was held at St. Joseph's on December 23 and he was buried at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio Dec. 24.

Enrollment At New High

Enrollment at St. Joseph again soared for the seventh consecutive year, reaching a new high of 1088—an increase of 111 over last year's and the first time that the college has ever enrolled more than 1000. Last year's figure was 977.

Of the total of 1065 male and 23 female students enrolled there were 457 new students who made their way to St. Joseph's this year with the breakdown of classes being: 425 freshmen, 311 sophs, 200 juniors, 137 seniors and 15 special students. A record was set in the enrollment of new students and freshmen.

The students come from all parts of the United States and from many parts of the world. A breakdown of the figures shows the following distribution:

Arizona	3
California	3
Connecticut	2
Florida	2
Illinois	485
Indiana	292
Iowa	1
Kansas	2
Kentucky	20
Maine	1
Maryland	1
Massachusetts	2
Michigan	79
Missouri	5
New Hampshire	1
New Jersey	11
New Mexico	1
New York	17
North Dakota	1
Ohio	119

Texas	1
Virginia	3
Washington, D. C.	1
West Virginia	2
Wisconsin	11
Bolivia	1
Canada	2
Guam	1
Korea	1
Venezuela	1
Vietnam	1

This year's increase was aided by the conversion of a building formerly inhabited by sisters into student quarters.

St. Joseph's Calumet Center enrollment closed with a total of 721 registrations. An increase of slightly more than 22% over the total enrollment in September, 1958.

Dr. Moloney, '20, talks with Father Rapp, '99, as Alumni Director Rudy Volz, '53, looks on.

should not be regarded as its main reason for existence. However, moral influence on developing characters is never in vain."

Faith Will Survive

"Faith can and will survive whether Catholic colleges flourish or not. The Catholic college must attempt to reconcile the profane and the sacred in the manner of St. Thomas Aquinas, who combined the philosophy of the pagan Aristotle with Catholic beliefs."

Dr. Moloney noted that, "The main problem of the Catholic colleges today is that the Church lacks entry to the secular intellectual circles. Catholic educational centers are often looked upon with contempt by leading secular intellectuals."

According to Dr. Moloney, "The Church helped to create this anti-Catholic atmosphere, and is now paying for its contemptuous attitude towards literary men in the past."

"The terrifying materialistic attitude at Catholic colleges is shameful. I haven't met an intellectually purposeful student on a Catholic campus. Catholic youths aren't living their faith to the hilt!"

Raps Catholic Press

Former newspaperman Moloney denounced the Catholic press for its lack of professionalism, continuing and ever-present bias, and "clerical obscurantism."

He said that, "The Catholic press in the United States is very largely a disgrace. The editors, for the most part, are biased and professionally ignorant. They turn out trivial, prejudiced editorials. They distort national and local news events to their own biased image."

Dr. Moloney went on to say

$275,000 Received From Corporations By St. Joseph's

The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, President Saint Joseph's College, has been on the road much of the time since the opening of school. Along with twelve other Indiana college presidents, he will call on some 1200 Indiana Corporations in a continuing effort to raise current-operation funds for the thirteen member colleges incorporated under the title of Associated Colleges of Indiana. (The Associated College movement, begun in Indiana, has now spread to 40 states. It is a crusade to keep the private colleges free and strong, avoiding direct federal aid.)

That private corporate business sees its close relationship to private higher education is attested by the fact that, despite the business recession last year, corporations contributed $750,000.00 to the Association.

Corporations may give to the ACI—in which case the gifts are divided equally among the 13 schools—or they may designate specific colleges, in which case the total gift goes to the designated school, whether a member of the ACI or not. (The long-established Indiana Senior Colleges profit most from designated gifts, because of the location and strong alumni ties to some corporations.)

By the end of 1959, St. Joseph's college will have received $275,000.00 through this effort, over 90% from non-Catholics who would otherwise never have contributed to Saint Joseph's College. Apart from money, the public relations value for the College is great: these corporation heads now have met a priest (some for the first time) and now know about and are interested in our College.

One recurring question: Are alumni and churches supporting their own college?

The ambition is to have alumni support equal corporate support.

Institutes Honors Program at SJC

St. Joseph's College has instituted a new experimental honors program this year for its "B-or-better" students.

Known as the All-College Honors program, the plan will give qualified students an opportunity to take special honors courses both in an outside of their major field of study.

Fr. Edward A. Maziarz, C.P.P.S., academic dean, said that the purpose of the new program is to "enable exceptional students to broaden and deepen their knowledge by enrolling in courses offered by the Honors department." The Honors department is comprised of faculty members representing all of the college's areas of instruction and students are allowed to take, with advice, any honors course they wish.

Three courses are being offered by the Honors department this fall on an experimental basis. They are Comparative Education, Medieval Institutions, and Studies in Comparative Religion. Each course is three hours.

The All-College Honors program has not replaced the old honors program, which will remain in effect at least temporarily. Under the old system the B-or-better student cannot graduate with honors unless he has successfully completed the honors seminar in his major field of study.

Policy Changes At A Growing Institution

St. Joseph's is a growing institution. This year there are more than 1,000 students, more than ever before. When an institution expands, changes become necessary if standards are not to fall.

A committee on the revision of the faculty handbook, headed by Fr. Edward A. Maziarz, C.P.P.S., has been studying the college's administrative policy for the past two years. Acting on the results of this committee, the faculty last spring approved a new statement of administrative policy, effective Sept. 1, 1959.

Under this new policy, various faculty offices have been changed and the academic divisions revamped. The Dean of Men has been renamed the Dean of Students, with more responsibility than ever before. He will still be in charge of student disciplinary action, but he will also manage student social affairs now. The Health Center and the office of college Chaplain will also come under his care.

Academic Senate Created

The office of Coordinator of Student Affairs was abolished and the duties of that office split between the Academic Dean and the Dean of Students.

The faculty committee which must approve all changes of academic policy will now be called the Academic Senate. Fr. Maziarz will head the committee which consists of: Fr. Charles H. Banet, Fr. Alvin W. Druhan, Mr. Richard L. Kilmer, Fr. Henry J. Martin, Fr. Urban J. Seigrist, Fr. Rudolph Bierberg, Dr. Bryce J. Jones, Fr. Ernest A. Lucas (secretary), and Fr. Charles J. Robbins.

The college's six academic divisions have been broken down into departments within the divisions. Each department will have its own head who is under the head of the division.

Department Heads

For example, there was formerly one head for the entire division of religion-philosophy. Now, there is a department of religion and a department of philosophy within the division. Each department has its own head who is responsible to the head of the entire division.

According to Fr. Maziarz, this new system of divisions and departments strengthens course offerings and improves student counseling services. Department heads are installed for terms of one year and are eligible to repeat the following year.

The various heads of divisions and departments are listed below: Divisions of business and economics: Dr. Bryce Jones, division head; Mr. Curtis H. Stanley, accounting; Dr. Robert W. Morell, business administration; Dr. Jones, economics.

Division of education: Fr. Ernest Lucas, division head; Mr. Richard F. Scharf, physical education; Fr. Lucas, education.

Division of humanities: Fr. Alvin W. Druhan, division head; Fr. Rufus H. Esser, English and journalism; Fr. Raymond M. Cera, languages; Fr. Lawrence F. Heiman, music; Mr. Ralph M. Cappuccilli, speech.

Division of natural sciences: Fr. Urban J. Siegrist, division head; Fr. Albert A. Wuest, chemistry; Fr. Siegrist, biology; Fr. Carl Nieset, geology; Fr. Charles R. Rueve, mathematics-physics.

Division of religion and philosophy: Fr. Rudolph Bierberg, division head; Fr. Robert F. Lechner, philosophy; Fr. Bierberg, religion.

Division of social sciences: Mr. Richard L. Kilmer, division head; Mr. Kilmer, history. (The department of politics and of sociology are still included under the division.)

Men and Issues

With the Homecoming still fresh in everyone's mind, and the presence of the alumni having been felt, we thought it appropriate that this interview deal with alumni activities. Mr. Rudy Volz, alumni director, gladly furnished the answers to our queries.

Question: As alumni director, what are your duties?

Answer: The prime purpose is fund-raising, but I also edit "Contact," the alumni newspaper. Keeping addresses and records up to date is another function of the position.

Q. How many alumni are there?

A. The exact number is not known because of a lack of continuity in the position of alumni director. We do, however, know of 4200. This figure includes persons from the academy, seminary, junior college, and four-year college. There have been 1256 four-year college graduates since 1938.

Q. What percentage of this group donate, and how much?

A. Of the 4052 living alumni 699 contributed, or approximately 18%. Of the 1256 college grads there were 234 donors, also 18%. In last year's fund drive $12,780.00 was donated. This averages about $18.25 for each of the 699 donors.

Q. How does this percentage compare with other schools?

A. According to previous records we compare very well. A surprising fact, however, is that some of our biggest supporters are priests.

Q. What activities do the alumni participate in?

A. The one big event of the year is the Homecoming, as would be expected. There are chapters in various cities or geographical areas and these chapters have communion breakfasts, cocktail parties, and dinner dances. These various activities are usually connected with some athletic event of St. Joe. We also have a National Alumni Association for coordination and distribution of ideas and new trends.

Q. Why is your prime function fund-raising?

A. Each year the school has a huge difference between student fees and actual expenses. Tuition and other student fees do not come close to meeting needed revenue. Because the alumni have received their education and entry into their field through attending St. Joe, they should feel no qualms about helping the school meet costs. Just as it is today, they received an education at far less expense than the actual cost. This is one way that the alumni can repay the school for the many benefits afforded them because of the schooling received. Also, as Catholics, they should be interested in supporting a Catholic educational institution, especially one with which they have such personal contact.

Lack of Depth, Injuries; Pumas Limp to 4-4 Mark

Down South, some colleges can field three squads. Up North, around Rensselaer, one team had trouble fielding even one complete team for a game. St. Joe's Pumas, hobbled by a series of injuries and a succession of bad breaks, limped to a 4-4 final record in '59 and 3-3 tie for third place in the ICC. If such an award were to be given, Joe Iofredo, making his debut as SJ head coach, would deservedly win the Blue Cross for meritorious service above and beyond the call of injuries.

In non league games, the Pumas lost their opener to NE Missouri St., 18-16, and pounded Loras, 40-8. The Nov. 14 game against W. Kentucky was called off because of impossible playing conditions in the Puma stadium. The following is a synopsis of the games.

Sept. 18-NE Missouri 18-St. Joe 16

St. Joseph's opened their 1959 season by traveling to Kirksville, Mo., to battle the NE Missouri Bulldogs. Unfortunately for the Pumas they ran into Dale Mills, the NCAA's leading small college rusher in 1958, who almost single-handedly ruined the Pumas' opener by scoring all three Bulldog touchdowns en route to piling up 164 yards in 18 carries. St. Joseph's, trailing 12-9 at the half, forged into the lead early in the third period when Ralph Gardner to Les Klein pass was good for 46 yards and a score. But Mills gave the Missourians their deciding points early in the fourth stanza when he rammed over from the five on fourth down. Mike Murphy led the attack with 64 yards in 13 carries.

Sept. 26-St. Joe 19-DePauw 0

The Pumas launched their 1959 Indiana Collegiate conference campaign by racking DePauw, 19-0, on the rain-swept Tiger gridiron. The win also gave the Pumas their first 1959 victory. St. Joseph's was in command all the way as they totaled 267 yards to the Tigers' 47. An unusual feature of the game was the fact that neither team managed to complete a pass in the down-pour. Junior George Connelly led the Puma attack, piling up 101 of the 267 yards in 15 carries. He also provided the fans with the game's most exciting play, a 54 yard scamper in the second quarter.

Oct. 3-Butler 20-St. Joe 7

In one of the biggest contests of the '59 season, the Pumas played host to the Butler Bulldogs, eventual 1959 ICC champions. After a scoreless first half Butler broke the scoring ice with a touchdown and conversion in the third period. The Pumas, however, immediately tied the score by traveling 68 yards in 10 plays. Les Klein, who led the Pumas' attack with 85 yards in 10 carries, climaxed the drive with a 13 yard run around left end. Dave Beran's conversion knotted the score. But St. Joseph's lack of man-power took its toll in the final quarter when the weary Pumas permitted two Butler scores. The final TD came in the last few seconds when Dave Beam's desperation pass was intercepted deep in Puma territory. The Pumas received one of their many bad breaks of this season in this game when stand-out guard Vince Goeddeke suffered a shoulder separation which sidelined him for almost the entire remainder of the season.

Oct. 10-St. Joe 40-Loras 8

The Pumas righted themselves the following week as they ran up their highest total of the season in downing the Loras Duhawks, 40-8, in another down-pour, this time on the Puma gridiron. St. Joseph's capitalized on every Loras error as they turned five Duhawk miscues into touchdowns.

Leading the Puma attack, which outgained the Duhawks 330-84, were Mike Murphy and Bob Piero. Murphy scored three touchdowns and Piero totaled 62 yards in 4 carries, 55 coming on a third period touchdown jaunt.

Oct. 17-Ind. State 20-St. Joe 14

This was the Pumas' most frustrating outing of the '59 season as they were held within State's 10 yard line twice with four downs to go before falling to the Sycamores in a 20-14 upset. After trailing 14-0 midway in the second stanza the Pumas rallied for two quick scores to knot the count at 14 all at the end of the first half. After State scored following the second half kickoff, the Pumas consistently knocked at the Sycamore door for the remainder of the game but could never get through the stout State defense. Les Klein again led the Puma attack by picking up 106 yards in 21 attempts. The Pumas suffered another severe blow when veteran end Ray Regner was lost for the season because of a reinjured knee.

Oct. 24-Valparaiso 16-St. Joe 3

This was Homecoming for the Pumas but neither the weather man nor the Crusaders from Valparaiso cared to join in the festivities as arch-rival Valparaiso downed St. Joseph's in the mud and cold, 16-3. The Pumas dented the scoring column first when Dave Beran arched a 29 yard field goal early in the second quarter. But from then on both the mud from a steady driving rain and a stout Crusader defense contained the Puma attack which, for the only time this season, failed to tally at least one touchdown. The Pumas were led by Klein and Connelly who picked up 40 yards apiece, Klein in six carries, Connelly in 14 tries.

Oct. 31-St. Joe 22-Ball State 8

With the possibility of their first losing season in six years facing them the Pumas began rolling. They narrowed their season record to 3-4 as they downed the Ball State Cardinals 22-8 on the Ball State gridiron. For the fifth time this season the game was played in the rain. After a close, hard fought first half which saw the Pumas on top 7-0, St. Joseph's completely outclassed the Cardinals in the final half, to pull away with the victory, giving the Pumas a 2-3 mark in conference action. Ball State's deepest penetration into Puma territory until the final 40 seconds of the second half was to the Puma 48; only an 80 yard touchdown return with 40 seconds left spoiled the shutout. Mike Murphy led the St. Joe attack with 72 yards in 17 carries and all three Puma touchdowns. It was the second time this season Murphy managed to score three touchdowns in one ball game. The Pumas outgained the Cardinals, 296-102.

Fullback Mike Murphy plowed for 1149 net yards (4.3 average per rush) and 156 total points in his four year college career.

Nov. 7-St. Joe 8-Evansville 7

Although the Evansville Aces managed to score for the first time in four seasons against the Pumas, it wasn't enough to win as St. Joseph's combined a touchdown and a safety for their third ICC win of the season which gave them a tie for third place in the final standings. The Pumas' defense, which improved with every game, held the ICC's erstwhile leading rusher, Wally Shatkowski, to only 21 yards in 9 carries while

Les Klein was ripping the Evansville defense to shreds en route to capturing the coveted ICC rushing crown for the 1959 season. Klein totaled 134 yards in 17 carries, including a 62 yard gallop for the only Puma touchdown. But it was Vic Roos, 232-pound Puma tackle, who provided the Pumas with their margin of victory when he tackled Shatkowski in the Aces' end zone for a safety in the second quarter. Evansville scored early in the fourth stanza to close the count to 8-6, but, instead of trying for a two-point conversion, they kicked and thus gave the Pumas their well-deserved 8-7 triumph.

Nov. 14-St. Joe vs. Western Ky. (cancelled because of snow and ice)

The final game of the 1959 season failed to materialize as the weather man cold-shouldered the game scheduled for the Puma gridiron. After a six-inch snow covered the field on Thursday, the field was plowed on Friday but snow, mixed with a freezing rain, again blanketed the field with a coat of ice which made playing conditions impossible.

SJ's Klein, S-Boys Share Offensive Honors in ICC

St. Joe's Les Klein, Wally Shatkowski of Evansville and Valparaiso quarterback Noel Schlegelmilch shared offensive honors in the Indiana Collegiate Conference, according to the final 1959 statistics released by the ICC News Bureau.

Klein upped his rushing figure to 506 yards with 128 in the Pumas' finale against Evansville and grabbed the ground-gaining title from Shatkowski, who finished with 425 yards.

Shatkowski took the scoring crown with 34 points, followed by Butler's John Skirchak with 30 and DePauw's Mace with 28.

For the second straight year, Schlegelmilch led the league both in passing and total offense. His passes netted 626 yards, and rushing added 32 yards for a total of 658.

Second in both departments was Bob Stryzinski of Butler, who accumulated all of his 584 total yards in the air. He also was the ICC's top marksman with a .635 completion percentage.

Fighting Pumas

by Tom Lewis, '60
(Reprinted from Stuff)

"I've followed the Pumas ever since I graduated from St. Joe many years ago and I have seen all kinds of teams both good and bad." With that opening statement, an alumnus told me about some of the interesting things that he has noticed in many Homecoming games. He was a little disappointed that this one was under such terrible conditions, and he only stayed for the first half, but seemed to be talking with authority. So, I asked him some questions and these were his answers.

Never has any St. Joe team been hampered by so many bad breaks, loss of key personnel, inexperience, and decisions on the playing field, going against them. But this team seems to have a quiet, reserved, will to win that shows up whether the score is with us or against us. They have a hard hitting team, and it is easily understood why most of the games aren't decided until late in the final quarter.

The backing of the team is very apparent in all aspects. The pep rally showed enthusiasm, and the crowd at the game during the bad weather proved a good following.

You cannot expect miracles to come when there are less than two dozen players in the Red and White. And this is probably the primary reason for the two wins and four losses this year. St. Joe was hit by graduation, ineligibility, and injuries. It can only be hoped that all the unfortunate circumstances can be overcome with the return of veteran players, and that maybe our share of bad luck is coming in one year.

We have spoiled many a Crusader Homecoming and they were definitely up for this ball game. But, he felt that all the alumni who visited Pumaville were impressed with the job done by the coaching staff and players.

Klein, Roos All-Conference

Saint Joseph's College landed two players on the ALL-ICC team announced by the Indiana Collegiate Conference News Bureau. Top vote getter on the team was St. Joseph's halfback LES KLEIN, who drew 71 of a possible 119 points.

St. Joe's MVP

Les Klein, the ICC's leading rusher, picked up 1435 net yards in his three year varsity career (5.7 average per rush) and 70 total points.

Klein, a senior from Lake Village, Indiana was also voted by his teammates as St. Joseph's most valuable player for 1959.

Klein, an all-conference performer in football, basketball and track at Morocco high school in Morocco, Indiana in 1956, was the top rusher in the Indiana Collegiate Conference this season with 506 yards in 89 carries. The 5-9, 175 pound speedster paced St. Joseph's with 591 yards and a 5.4 average per run for the season.

The Pumas, under freshman Coach Joe Iofredo, finished with a 4-4 record and 3-3 in the ICC.

A regular for the last three seasons, Klein averaged 10.5 yards per run in 61 carries as a sophomore in 1957 and was for a time during that season the nation's leading small college rusher. In 1958 he started at quarterback for half the season before returning to halfback and his output dropped to 206 yards in 74 carries for a 2.8 average. This year he not only led the squad and the conference in rushing but he was the team's number one man on punt and kickoff returns (12.9 and 25.2 averages respectively) and second on the squad in pass receiving (six passes for 139 yards) and scoring (36 points).

Klein has been clocked at 10.5 for 100 yards with his uniform on. With the help of this speed, Klein is also rated by Iofredo as fine defensive back.

A physical education major, Klein maintains a B or better average in the classroom, even during the football season. He was one of 20 St. Joseph seniors named this month to the 1959-60 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," an annual publication which bases its selections on scholastic achievement, character and extra-curricular activities. In 1956 Klein was the salutatorian of his high school class at Morocco.

Elected to the team along with Klein was St. Joseph's tackle Vic Roos, a junior from Jasper, Indiana.

Hank Murphy, senior center from Chicago, Illinois, was named to the second team.

Jim Madden (Chicago, Illinois) and Mike Murphy (Winchester, Mass.) received Honorable Mention.

The ALL-ICC team was selected by the vote of 91 players and 41 coaches.

Top individual performers of the Indiana Collegiate Conference have also been announced. Les Klein earned third place in the backfield with Dick Mace of DePauw receiving first place. On the line, Vic Roos was given third place under Jim Ringer of Butler who landed first place. This voting was the choice of 105 coaches and players in the conference.

Three St. Joe Men On All-Midwest Team

The LaCrosse Times-Review, La-Crosse, Wis., has chosen its All-Midwest Team, representing six Catholic colleges. The All-Catholic Midwest football team of 1959 named three members of the St. Joe's squad to the team. Those named were Hank Murphy, Mike Murphy, who was the second leading scorer on the team, and Les Klein, who was, as the Review stated, "probably the most outstanding back on the All-Midwest squad." Honorable Mentions were also given to Vic Roos and Jim Madden.

SJ to Play in Holiday Tournament At Franklin on January 1 and 2

A Fast-Paced Commentary

Starting his second season as the spur of the St. Joe racehorses, head coach Joe Iofredo has a 128-43 in high school coaching behind his 12-11 SJ mark.

Jack Finnegan, the Pumas' 6'4" center from Louisville, led the Indiana Collegiate Conference in rebounding last season with a 15.9 per game average.

Sophomore forward Mickey Clark (6'4") adds depth to the Joemen, coming off last year's freshman squad with a 12 point per game average.

The ICC's all-everything in '58-'59, guard Bobby Williams is the reigning conference scoring champion (20.5 avg.) and a member of the All-Midwest Catholic College team. Only 5'10", Williams was the league's 10th best rebounder.

St. Joseph's Pumas will pass up most of their Christmas vacation to meet Franklin and Indiana Central in the first annual Indianapolis Classic, Jan. 1-2, in Franklin, Ind.,

Coach Joe Iofredo's Pumas have been paired with Franklin in the second game on Jan. 1 at 9:30 p.m. (E.S.T.) and with Indiana Central in the opener at 8:00 p.m. (E.S.T.) on Jan. 2. Indiana Central will go against Georgetown (Ky.) in the opener on Jan. 1 and Georgetown and Franklin will meet in the wind-up on Jan. 2.

The tourney had originally been scheduled at Indiana Central's new physical education building in Indianapolis, but the cite was changed for this year because the fieldhouse at Indiana Central will not be ready in time.

The Pumas will resume their Indiana Collegiate conference wars at DePauw Jan. 5. St. Joseph's is 1-1 in the ICC, having beaten Indiana State, 98-68, after an 89-87 loss to Valparaiso. The Pumas have also lost to Marshall, 92-65, and Wabash, 84-82, and Dec. 18th they whipped Anderson College, 94-66.

Six men scored in double figures against Anderson, with 5-7 guard Jim Koehler (Madison, Ind.) leading the way with 21 points. The squad's two scoring leaders, forward Ron Holstein (Hamilton, O.) and guard Bob Williams (Indianapolis) registered 13 and 14 points respectively.

Holstein will go into the Indianapolis Classic as the squad's leading scorer with a 22.2 average, followed by Williams with 20.6. Koehler has netted 16.4 points a game while center Jack Finnegan, 6-4 senior from Louisville, is hitting at 9.4 per game and forward Al Whitlow, 6-2 junior from Michigan City, has scored 8.6. Finnegan and Whitlow, who ranked first and third in rebounding in the ICC last year, are again pacing the squad this year under the boards with an average of 15 rebounds apiece.

The fast-breaking Pumas, who ranked 13th in the nation in offense last year among small colleges with an 84.1 average, are averaging 85.2 points per game this season and are hitting on 41 percent of their shots from the field—three percentage points better than last year. Their five opponents have averaged 79.8 points per game.

INDIANA CENTRAL AND FRANKLIN OPPONENTS

Indiana Central's Greyhounds had a good 16-8 record last year and should be a better team this year. They finished third in the Hoosier College Conference with an even 5-5 mark. Coach Angus Nicholson has back Jerry Lewis, a 5-9½ sophomore guard who was the nation's leading free throw shooter last year, sinking 75 out of 80 for a .938 percentage.

However, the Greyhounds are as bad off as the Pumas in the height department. They have two 6-4 forwards in Harold Boyd a soph, and Shannon Jones, a senior, but their tallest center is 6-3 junior Delmar Merritt.

Franklin's Grizzlies have back the two men who led the team in scoring for the past two years and a strong second five to back them up. They could offer the Pumas some rough competition in the tourney. Last year the Grizzlies were 11-15 overall and 3-7 in the Hoosier College Conference.

Bill Slayback, an all-conference selection, led the squad in point making last year, breaking the school record by dumping in 560 points for a 22.4 average. Teaming with him at the guard posts will be Roger Reed, who led the Franklin scorers two years ago.

Coach Herman Moyer's big headache will be rebounding strength to go along with his high-scoring guards. Both of last year's starting forwards, the number two and three high point men, have been graduated.

Coach Moyer, however, will have 6-3 senior forward Dick Foster who led the team last year in rebounding and defensive statistics but he can't do it all. Junior Jim Cosby, 6-4, is the best shot on the squad but his past performances have not been up to expectations. If he comes through, the Grizzlies could be a high scoring outfit.

Former pro Jim Holstein, brother of the Pumas' Ron, will be the Freshman coach this year, coming to St. Joe this fall from Cincinnati where he coached high school basketball and baseball the last three years.

Forward Ron Holstein (6'3") dropped in 11.6 points per game last year. The Hamilton (O.) junior had three 20-plus nights in '58-'59.

Al Whitlow, 6'2" forward, finished third in the ICC in rebounds (12.3 per game) and scored at an average of 11.4. His tremendous spring gives St. Joe its only genuine "dunker."

The smallest man on the team, 5'7" guard Jim Koehler averaged only 8.4 points per game last year, but in the NAIA district playoffs scored 36 points in two games to cop the most outstanding player award.

Bobby Williams soars to the greatest point performance by a St. Joe player.

Williams Breaks Records

Bobby Williams put on one of the greatest shows in St. Joe basketball history as he tallied 40 points and grabbed off 15 rebounds to lead the Pumas to their first win of the season, a 98-68 conquest of ICC rival Indiana State.

Williams, the fabulous little man (5-10), broke two St. Joe scoring records and tied another in the packed Puma fieldhouse. His 40 points, coming on twisting lay-ups and pretty jump shots, beat the previous Puma mark of 37 set by Jack Wilz in 1951 and tied by Dan Fenker in 1956.

He also busted his own record for the most field goals scored by netting 17 on 22 shots for a fantastic 77 percent shooting average. His old mark was 15 field goals in 24 tries against Northern Michigan last season.

Williams' total also tied the St. Joe fieldhouse record established last year by Bellarmine's big center, Rudy Montgomery. Williams left the game with about four minutes remaining or the little man might have shattered that mark too.

The Pumas edged a squad record with a hot night all around from the floor. They sank 43 field goals in 82 attempts for a 52.2 perentage and passed the old mark for most field goals scored—42 of 88 set against Marian in 1956.

Bowling Team Third In MIBC

St. Joseph college has again entered a bowling team in the Midwest Intercollegiate Bowling Conference this year. The season began November 1, and a matter of weeks later, the St. Joseph Athletic Board announced bowling as a varsity sport and elected Fr. Boniface Drieling as the faculty moderator.

DePaul, Loyola, Notre Dame, St. Joseph's and Valparaiso are the present members of MIBC. The regular season lasts five months and will end March 27. Following the season, the annual MIBC tournament takes place, in which the league teams compete in five scratch games. The tournament awards trophies for the first place as well as the three high games and series.

A match would consist of five games and the winner of each game receives two points, while the winner of the series receives one point, allowing for a possibility of 11 points.

As of the first two matches, St. Joseph's has a 5 and 5 record with a total of 11 points and third place in the league.

The Good Old Days?

In talking with St. Joe statistician, we were able to peek into some of the yellowed records of the SJ teams of yore. In the days of the center jump the flying wedge and the dead ball, St. Joe squads set some amazing records—amazing in that they make one wonder how sports ever survived 'neath the Twin Towers.

To deviate from the usual custom of playing up the "bests" let's take a painful look at St. Joe's "worsts" and count our blessings.

When the Pumas took the floor against Marshall, it marked St. Joe's 54th year of basketball—which is quite a tribute to the courage and optimism of the athletic department of 1905. For, on March 3, 1905, St. Joe played its first basketball game and lost to Company M of Rensselaer, 13-1. Later on, SJ beat Company M, 17-12, to make its first season an even one.

But what a difference a couple of years made—In February of 1907, St. Joe edged Goodland, 114-10.

Football had a rough launching at Collegeville. In 1923, for example, the Joemen played three games, lost two, scored one touchdown, allowed 125 points to be scored against them.

The next year, Lake Forest Academy eked out a 103-0 decision over St. Joe. The Pumas weren't roarin' in the 20's.

The 1952 Pumas gained only 356 yards throu hout their nine-game schedule, for a 1.4 yards-per-rush average. The most yards SJ gained in one game that year was 46. Opponents picked up 2,475 total yards against the Red defense. Least yards rushing in one game was a —14.

The 1924 campaign was perhaps the most frustrating as St. Joe scored only 10 points to the enemies 262.

The good ole days were never so bad.

Ron Holstein drives for two of his 22 points against Indiana State.

Bishop Danehy Dies in Lima, Peru

The Most Rev. Thomas J. Danehy, '33, the "jungle priest" who worked among primitive people at the headwaters of the Amazon for the last 17 years, died recently in the American clinic in Lima, Peru of a heart attack.

Bishop Danehy, of Manitowoc, Wis., had been stricken at his Maryknoll mission in the "green hell" area of northeast Bolivia and removed to Lima for further care. He suffered a relapse and died.

A native of Fort Wayne, Indiana, bishop Danehy entered the Maryknoll seminary, Maryknoll, N. Y., in 1934 and was ordained in 1939. He served on the faculty of the Maryknoll junior seminary at Clark Summit, Pa., until his assignment to Bolivia in 1942 with the pioneer group of Maryknoll missionaries in Latin America. He was consecrated a bishop in Manitowoc in 1953.

Bishop Danehy's main mode of travel in Bolivia was by boat. His visits to the natives frequently lasted two months and took him along 1,500 miles of jungle water ways. He frequently had to live off the land, subsisting often on monkey meat.

Many times he narrowly escaped death in the treacherous jungle region.

Chosen by an alumni judging committee for originality and effort, the winner of the 1959 Homecoming decorations contest was the Engineering club, which constructed an electronic computer beside the science building.

Fr. Gerlack, '46 Appointed As SJC Historian

Soon St. Joseph's College will mark its 75th anniversary as an institution of higher education. It is customary on such a special occasion to look back over the years and review just what has been accomplished, if anything, and to attempt to predict what lies ahead.

In honor of this approaching anniversary, Fr. Dominic B. Gerlack, C.P.P.S., assistant professor of history at the college, has been appointed by the administration to compile a factual history of the growth and development of St. Joseph's.

"This is a much more difficult task than you would imagine," said Fr. Gerlack. "The school opened its doors in 1891 and there are few records available of its operations."

Fr. Gerlack is not yet sure whether the work will be simply a booklet or a full-fledged book. He has almost seven years to work on the project and he said that the length will probably depend on the type and number of sources he is able to turn up.

He pointed out that there are many interesting, little-known facts connected with the history of St. Joe. "For example, Drexel hall, the oldest building on the campus, was an Indian school before St. Joseph's acquired it from the government," said Fr. Gerlack. "It is named for Catherine Drexel, a rather wealthy woman who was very much interested in helping the Indians; she donated the money with which it was built."

Fr. Gerlack added that he would be able to get some information from the Library of Congress about Drexel since it was a government-run school for many years before St. Joe acquired it. "Old issues of Stuff should be of great assistance too," said Fr. Gerlack.

However, unlike most historians, Fr. Gerlack has the added advantage of having a living witness to the history of the college. Many St. Joe students would be greatly surprised to find that Fr. Ildephonse Rapp, a slightly old man often seen walking around the campus, was among the first students to enroll at St. Joe in 1891. He received his education here and, until about nine years ago, was a member of the faculty.

Honors Program . . .

To be graduated with All-College honors under the new system, a student will have to have at least a cumulative B. average (index of 3.00) and a minimum of five Honors department courses in at least three different fields of study. The five Honors courses can be substituted for the graduation requirements of 12 hours in a minor.

The plan of the new system is to get the best teachers and the best students together in small informal classes. There is a minimum of class meetings and the burden of learning rests primarily with the student. Class procedure is left entirely to the instructor's discretion.

Participation in the new program is by invitation of the academic dean. Students become eligible for the program upon completion of their freshman year and those who are invited to participate are assigned to a special Honors committee which assists them in arranging their program.
